When It Comes to Water, Love Every Drop

RightScope™ Makes Water Efficiency Easy

A hot bath after a long work out... a cold glass of water on a hot summer day... watching your kids run through the sprinklers... an afternoon dip in the pool... happy plants... delicious vegetables from your garden...

We all love water for different reasons. And we use it from sun up to sun down. So why not be more efficient with this precious resource?

In honor of Valentine's Day this year, show your love of water by joining Professor Wright and Roger in using water the RightScope way: The Right Plants, The Right Schedule and The Right Equipment.

RightScope makes it easy to be water efficient. Our website gives you garden inspiration with drought resistant plants, tips on finding and fixing leaks and many other tools to make sure you're using water wisely.

We can all do one more thing to save water this year. Visit our Facebook page or tweet us on Twitter (@irwdnews) and tell us why you love water, with hashtag #RightScope.

Professor Wright and Roger can't wait to hear your story!
